This game is so calming, so chill. I will most likely play this game multiple times. I hope that they make more games like this. I found this game through 9gag, will never regret it. Such a beautiful game.. This game isn't bad, but it's not great either. It's about 30min long (unless you go back and replay for achievements), and pretty much impossible to fail. The gameplay consists mostly of wandering along retrieving fortune cookies and hitting switches until you advance to the next zone. It's different, it's chill, but it's not amazing.

One really frustrating aspect to me is that it allows you to use a controller for navigation, but not for camera control or jumping... so... what's the point?

What this game has going for it:

- * relaxed pace, chill music\visuals
- * unusual concept
- * low price point

What's holding it back:

- * lacks controller support
- * fortune cookies are more annoying than thought provoking
- * very short
- * graphics are at best mediocre

. Wonderfully soothing world. Fun challenge yet not rage inducing. Highly recommend as something different.. This game is so calming, so chill. I will most likely play this game multiple times. I hope that they make more games like this. I found this game through 9gag, will never regret it. Such a beautiful game.. Viaerium is truly a unique game...

There's no losing unless you give up~

No possible way to fail unless you stopped playing this game.

Those stuff aside, the game itself is quite luckluster, to say the least. It's graphics are minimalistic, yet pleasantly arranged artistically, making up for the very few assets it uses.

The game is very short, being able to be finished in under 30 minutes if you go along a normal pace transversing each level. Each level contains red orbs or the "orbs of wisdom" where picking one up causes inspiring quotes to flash on the screen. It is not mandatory to pick them all up to finish the game itself. As you complete each level, you approach closer to this so-called "Council", which are those gold cubes you bump into every time to complete a level.

To be honest, it would be unfair to judge the quality of this game based solely on my review. Some people like the well composed levels and short, inspiring story it delivers, others don't. I personally liked it, and I'd definitely say it's worth checking it out if you have a spare dollar or two to spend.

. Short platformer that is easy to 100%. Would definitely play additional levels and increased difficulty if it was released. Otherwise, not bad for 50% off.. - . Basically a walking simulator with a bunch of random quotes thrown.

While not a exactly "game" per se, it's still a really good whatever-this-is.

Basically, you play as an ordinary rectangle on a journey become a spiritual rectangle. On the way to rectangle-enlightenment you have to dodge blue things, press down on several squares (as enlightenment is only for the rectangles!) and collect red motivational fortune cookies floating around the place. You even have to go swimming in the Sea of something-something Spirituality. And when I say swim, I mean more like jump on the water as the rectangle Jesus you gradually become by taking in all the floating fortune cookie advice.

Yeah.. Well, I know this all sounds really, really daft, but it's actually surprisingly good. What really makes this game (sure, why not..) is the atmosphere it creates. The music is nothing short of incredible, and it far exceeded what I'd expect from a weird $3 indie game. The incredibly well-produced music in combination with the lighting (yeah, believe it or not) makes this game a neat experience. And while the inspirational advice from the motivational fortune cookies can be kinda cheesy from time to time, the games overall feel and atmosphere makes this barely noticable.

So, considering that this game costs next to nothing, it's easily worth the money, even if this is not your typical kind of game. And do yourself a favor: play the game with headphones (good ones) to really experience the music. That's by far the best part.

10V10 - would rectangle again!. Noticed a couple of spelling mistakes here and there in-game, but hey, nothing too major. Other than that and the fact there wasn't really a proper ending cutscene\credits (bothers me, but not too much; still respect you for what you did overall!), freaking BEATIFUL game! Very inspiring and relaxing! Rate it highly! If anyone's looking for a good game to chill in for a while, then THIS is for you! :3. Viaerium is truly a unique game...

10/10 - would rectangle again!. Basically a walking simulator with a bunch of random quotes thrown.. a gameplay for you <https://youtu.be/V85PcX-fps> . fun game to play with not very lengthy smooth and with good enough music in the background 3d platform sothnig different but recomended. Noticed a couple of spelling mistakes here and there in-game, but hey, nothing too major. Other than that and the fact there wasn't really a proper ending cutscene/credits (bothers me, but not too much; still respect you for what you did overall!), freaking BEATIFUL game! The music is incredibly soothing and the visual style is simple, yet marvelous. You can let yourself be absorbed by this games atmosphere, while also having something to think about.
Highly recommended!. a gameplay for you <https://youtu.be/V85PcX-fps> . fun game to play with not very lengthy smooth and with good enough music in the background 3d platform sothnig different but recomended. Wonderfully soothing world. Fun challange yet not rage inducing. Highly recommend as something different.
